

SUNNY BRAE PIONEER PASSES

JOHN BAPTIST HUBMAN

They mourn the loss of an old timer in the Sunny Brae district. On September 7, age 66 years, John Baptist Hubman passed away suddenly at his home from a heart ailment.

He leaves to mourn two sons, and three daughters, Jack Hubman, Toronto; William Hubman, Irma; Mary Kennedy, Irma; Heide Hubman and Amelia Elford of Vancouver; five grandchildren, and one brother in Switzerland.

The funeral service was held on Thursday morning, at 10 o'clock, at St. Theresa church, Irma. Rev. J. P. Ehnmann of Wainwright officiated.

He was buried in the Irma cemetery beside his loving wife. The interment was directed by F. E. McLeod, Wainwright.

The pall bearers were Messrs. Lenus Meyer, J. Donahue, E. Sharkey, H. Halverson, T. Sanders, J. Fenton.

Many beautiful floral tributes were received from: William Hubman and family; J. J. Kennedy and family; Heide and Amelia; Mrs. Eggl and Mr. Forester of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. H. Halverson; Mr. and Mrs. Barton; Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Steele and family; Walter and Mabel Frickleton; Mr. and Mrs. Foxwell; Mr. and Mrs. R. Smith; Mr. J. A. Hedley; Mr. and Mrs. Jack Fletcher; Charlie, Grace and family; Mrs. E. R. Hughes and family; Alma and family; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Archibald and Irene; Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Robertson; Wilma and Le Robertson; Mr. and Mrs. J. Dubasz and family; Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Jones and family; Mrs. I. C. Knudson, Aloetha and Arthur; Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Ott.

Spiritual offerings were received from Mr. and Mrs. Lenus Meyer; Mrs. Weise; Miss Donahue.

W.M.S. SECTIONAL RALLY

The sectional rally of the W.M.S. will be held at the United church in Irma, on Friday, Sept. 25. The meeting begins at 2:15 p.m. Interested ladies from Jarow, Kinsella and Viking are invited to attend this rally along with Wainwright and Irma. Mrs. A. D. Richard will give her report from dominion board. She attended the dominion board meeting in Toronto earlier in the year. This will be a very interesting report.

Ross District News

Miss Deloraine Stockton was home last week-end visiting her parents. She returned to her studies at the Edmonton Normal school by bus Monday morning.

Mr. Cummins left last Monday to assume the duties of a guard on the C.N.R. steel bridge near Fabian.

Mr. Jack McFadden left Monday for Edmonton to answer his call from the army. Good luck, Jack. The Ross school physical training club is letting itself all out for a big dance on the evening of Friday, September 25. Proceeds to be divided between the purchase of athletic equipment and the Red Cross.

W.C.T.U. MEETING

Thursday Sept. 24 will be annual meeting day for the Irma local W.C.T.U. This will be an inspirational program covering a resume of the work of the past year combined with a forward look to the future where lies a field of vast opportunities in our war-ridden world. What greater service can be offered than light on matters pertaining to life, health, clean morals, intelligent citizenship, community welfare and a climax of "World Peace?" Among the many departments inaugurated into its policy by the founder of this oldest of all women's organizations there stand out not only scientific temperance instruction in day and Sunday schools, but social hygiene, travellers' aid, legislation, Lord's Day observance, international relationships, prison reform, world missions, work among sailors, soldiers lumbermen, Indians, and many other lines in different directions.

The conditions for membership are merely the membership fee, a promise to refrain from the use of alcoholics as a beverage, and to use proper means to prevent liquor traffic. The objective of the world's Womens Christian Temperance Union is world purity, world prohibition and world peace.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for all the kindness and help given us during our recent bereavement, also the friends that contributed flowers and spiritual cards.

William Hubman and Family, Mary Kennedy and Family.

The local printers be given the opportunity to quote prices on all municipal stationery and printing.

Moved by Mr. Sutherland that this council do now adjourn until the next regular meeting of October 6, 1942. Cd.

A Permanent Peace

NO MATTER HOW LONG the present war continues, there can be only one outcome. The nations ranged on the side of the democracies have solemnly pledged to continue the struggle until final victory is attained. If the war should be prolonged, there will be no doubt be further peace-offerings from the enemy nations, who may ask for an armistice, with a view to a patched-up peace. As the enemy has undertaken to wage a total war, so must the Allied Nations be just as determined to continue the struggle until the final peace is won. There can be no sentimentalism shown when the curtain is rung down on the final act.

Will Wars Continue?

There is a school of thought that enunciates the view, that inasmuch as from time immemorial there have always been wars, that this curse of humanity must inevitably continue. Within the lifetime of the present generation we have witnessed two world wars, and it is conceivable to think that we are doomed, either ourselves or our children, to endure another world cataclysm. We are a peaceful people, and as such we should be called to defend ourselves from other war-like and predatory nations. We are, however, given to understand from views expressed by prominent statesmen and war leaders that we are now fighting for a permanent peace, and that steps will be taken to make sure that in future the peace will be maintained.

A Policy Needed

The only method by which this high purpose can be attained, would seem to be primarily by a unification of the English-speaking world, and with the aid of the other peace-loving peoples which comprise the United Nations. The man-power and resources of this continent, coupled with the might of the British Empire, should act as a strong deterrent to any act of aggression. It would require a permanent policy and a singleness of purpose to attain this much-desired end. One of the lessons we have learned from this war is that no country, no matter how distant from the seat of trouble, can escape from its terrors. The airplane has annihilated distances, and the world has become shrunken in this respect. Isolationism can be likened to the proverbial ostrich who hides his head in the sand to escape his enemies. Our only hope then is for a new and revised League of Nations that will stand the test of time.

Eggs—White Or Brown

THIS MORNING ON MILLIONS OF BREAKFAST TABLES—

Eggs helped to get the families off to a good start for the day, and in millions of other homes eggs will continue the good work at lunch and dinner. In varied dress—as golden scrambled, poached on toast, hard or soft in their shells, "sunnyside up" with ham, or hidden away in muffins or dessert—eggs are good for us at any meal.

A "MUST" FOOD—

Eggs are one of the "must" foods. Even when budgets are limited, at least three or four eggs a week are needed for each person. If possible, one egg a day for each child and each grown-up is recommended and sometimes two.

WHAT'S IN AN EGG?—

Eggs are rich in: Iron—one of the minerals our bodies need. Vitamins A and C. Good quality protein—important for children. They contain also some Vitamin D.

STYLES IN SHELLS—

Some people like white shelled eggs while others prefer them brown. The color of the shell is related only to the kind of hen. Leghorns lay white eggs; most other hens lay brown eggs. The color of the shell has nothing to do with age, condition or flavor of eggs. Flavor depends mostly on what the hens eat. Grade for grade, white eggs and brown eggs are the same.

YOLKS—LIGHT OR DARK?—

Many people think the color of the yolk indicates its "freshness"—the orange ones being older. This is not true for color depends on the hen's food and may vary from light yellow to deep orange and the egg still be of excellent quality.

COOLESS PREFERRED—

Once a good egg, not always a good egg—unless properly cared for. Eggs, like milk, are perishable, and should be kept in a cool place—in your refrigerator, if possible.

THE ART OF COOKING EGGS—

High temperatures make egg white tough. Today, the best cook doesn't boil eggs. Instead she puts the egg in cold water, brings it to a boil, covers, and turns off the heat. The egg should stand in the water for three minutes (soft cooked) and 20-25 minutes (hard cooked).

Scrambled eggs are best cooked in a double boiler, instead of directly over the heat. A moderate oven should be used for such dishes as custards, souffles, and cakes.

On the vitamin chart, free on postal card request to the Western Division Health League of Canada, 111 Avenue Road, Toronto, you can further explore the importance of eggs in your diet.

NO MORE PILLS AND POWDERS FOR US...WE'VE DISCOVERED ALL-BRAN!

Says Mrs. William Brady, Pardee, Ontario: "We have no more use for pills or cathartics! When we found out about ALL-BRAN we knew we'd never go back to pills or powders any more. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is certainly the 'Better Way'!"

Why don't you buy KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN? Try ALL-BRAN'S "Better Way" to correct the cause of constipation due to lack of the right kind of "bulk" in your diet. But remember, ALL-BRAN doesn't work like cathartics. It takes time. Get ALL-BRAN at your grocer's, in two convenient size packages, or ask for the individual serving package at restaurants. CBC NATIONAL FARM RADIO FORUM

Although Municipal Health Services are doing a good job in Saskatchewan, a national plan is desirable, in the opinion of speakers heard from Regina, in a recent broadcast of the CBC's National Farm Radio Forum. The speakers were: C. H. Chapin of Strasbourg, secretary-treasurer of the rural municipality of McKillop; Reeve M. S. Anderson of the same municipality; and Dr. E. H. Hiltman, resident physician of the McKillop health unit. Mr. Anderson, a Norwegian by birth and conversant with the highly-developed public health services of Norway, was one of the prime movers in the framing and passage of Saskatchewan's Municipal Medical and Hospital Services Act.

The plan discussed by the speakers has been in operation in McKillop municipality since 1939. Provincial and municipal authorities co-operate in the work, and individual residents pay an annual contribution which has been set at $7.20. The doctor serves about 2100 persons in an area extending about 25 miles out from Strasbourg, and also serves as Municipal Health Officer of four municipalities co-operating in the plan, Strasbourg, Bullock, Sifton and McKillop. He is paid an annual salary of $4,000, and looks after all medical and surgical care outside of hospital and within the scope of local facilities. Hospital cases are sent to Regina, and the plan provides for a maximum of 21 days at public ward rates. It does not include dental treatment or eye examinations for glasses. Patients take care of their own transportation. X-rays and physiotherapy are included, when requested by the local doctor or by a specialist.

It was generally agreed that public health had improved under the plan. Patients felt much freer to consult their local doctor about odd symptoms and in many cases more serious ailments were prevented by prompt treatment. Stress was laid upon the work in the district schools. The schools, twenty in all, had been visited, all children examined, and about 600 school and pre-school age children inoculated for diphtheria and scarlet fever, and vaccinated for smallpox.

It was stated that there were seven of these health units operating in Saskatchewan, and that other municipalities had passed bylaws and were awaiting the completion of their organizations. The health units kept in touch with one another through an association known as the Health Services Union, of which Mr. Chapin was secretary-treasurer. The chairman of this Union was Reeve George Bryce of Earl Grey, and the vice-chairman, A. E. Jones of Lumsden.

Mr. Anderson stressed the point that health should be a national problem, and hoped that some day municipal boundaries could be disregarded and centres set up for medical treatment of all Canadians, wherever they might be. Dr. Hiltman said that from the doctor's point of view, perhaps the greatest benefit would be to national health as a result of early diagnosis and preventive treatment. The municipal plan, however, was working well, in Mr. Chapin's opinion, and had given a sense of security to the people of the community.

VERY WONDERFUL

Captain George Fried, of the Bureau of Navigation, was talking about luxurious new liners. "A young man," he said, "crossed on the newest of these. His friends, when he disembarked, asked him how he had enjoyed the trip."

"It was wonderful," he said, "Why I hadn't been asked the way I wouldn't have known I was on the ocean!"

The Individual Citizen's Army

A Weekly Column About This And That In Our Canadian Army.

By Alan Maurice Irwin

A suit of battledress, as the only uniform available to a soldier, can be expected to last six months. If it is eked out by the issue of a cotton drill uniform in the summer the length of time before replacement becomes necessary is lengthened by a few weeks. When, in addition, a soldier is issued with a "walking out" uniform to wear in the fall and winter months the battle-dress can be expected to last at least nine months.

What is all that about? You ask. Just that when you are clothing or equipping an army you think of durability, utility, and the public purse. The main idea is to give each soldier everything he needs—but nothing more than that.

Which is a good target for soldiers in the Individual Citizen's Army to aim at. In other words, let's buy only what we need and preserve what we have.

There are many organizations in the Army having everything they need that they take care of what they have and that what is no longer usable for its primary purpose is salvaged for some other use.

We have dealt, from time to time with the Ordnance Corps, the "Q", or Quartermaster-General's branch and the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps but so far we haven't got down to the housekeepers of the different units yet.

These "housekeepers" are the Quartermaster sergeants. There are two varieties, Regimental Quartermaster Sergeants and Company Quartermaster Sergeants. I nearly forgot the top man, the Quartermaster who is the responsible commissioned officer in each unit. The unit organization is: Quartermaster, a commissioned officer, who is usually a captain; R.Q.M.S., a warrant officer, second class and a Squadron, Battery, or Company Quartermaster Sergeant who is the senior non-commissioned officer of the company ranking next below the Company Sergeant-Major.

These men function as a supply service for the unit and are responsible for obtaining all arms, clothing, equipment and rations for the men in their care. But and this is a big "but," they are also responsible for the care, maintenance and return of the articles or for a satisfactory explanation of clearance of them.

Thus through this chain of responsibility, the people's purse is watched; care is taken of the people's property used or worn by the soldiers and provision is made—through the chain of responsibility—for the collection and return to the Salvage Branch, R.C.O.C. of used or worn articles that can be repaired or otherwise salvaged.

"If it's good enough for the Army, it's good enough for the taxpayer." That would be a good motto for us to adopt. Then, conversely, "if it's not good enough for the taxpayer, it's not good enough for the Army," must be true, too.

That refers to material things. As regards the preservation and conservation of material things the Army can show the rest of us the way.

A full record of everything issued is kept in the Company and Regimental Quartermaster's store. That record shows just when Pte. John Canuck was issued with his coat or his battle-dress or his boots. It records the loss by Pte. Canuck of any of his equipment—and passed that information to the Paymaster so that deductions can be made.

Do we do that in our homes?

In other words are we taking enough notice of what we have to enable us to play our part in blocking the infiltration of inflation forces? Or are we rushing off to the store to buy something we don't need because the style has changed—or because we just plain want it?

I heard an indignant citizen (feminine) say the other day that she saw dresses in a window that "certainly" were not being simplified. Sure! Why not? There are still many retailers who have clothes in stock that were manufactured before the simplification orders were made. Are these to be wasted?

These are the things we must guard against. Turn that spare money for a new suit or coat into War savings, or save it for war taxes—in other words, do as the army does, make what you have last by taking care of it, by buying carefully in the first place.

The Wartime Prices and Trade Board has stated emphatically that the rationing of clothes is not imminent. But that does not mean we should go on buying sprees. 2480

CHAPTER II.

Carol Beldon looked prettier than ever, in her latest frock, at the Sailing Club dance that evening. When she passed by the table where Clem and Kay Miniver were sitting, she paused and said:

"I was rather looking for your son to be here."

"His present principles forbid such frivolity," said Clem.

"Oh, that's too bad," said Carol, eyes twinkling responsively.

"We give this phase a week or two at the outside," said Mrs. Miniver.

"I'm afraid that will be too late for me," rejoined Carol. "I'm going to Scotland tomorrow. I wanted to tell him I was sorry about this afternoon."

"At that very moment, a waiter approached with a folded bit of paper. Carol took it wonderingly, opened it and read: 'May I see you for a moment alone? I am waiting on the old boat landing.' 'Miniver,' said Mrs. Miniver, as the girl glanced up smilingly.

"I suppose it is," answered Carol. "Will you please excuse me?"

Vin was standing with folded hands and solemn mien as Carol approached.

"Miss Beldon," he began, "I don't want you to think I'm going back on anything I said this afternoon, but I did express myself a bit emphatically. I hope you'll excuse me."

"There's really nothing to excuse," said Carol. "Everyone's entitled to his mode of expression. Besides, I was in the wrong anyway."

The sound of dance music swept down with the breeze, and Carol added: "I must get back. I promised this tango."

Vin felt an odd clutching fear. "Oh, I'm sorry," he said. "There's so much I wanted to talk to you about."

"You don't dance?" asked Carol politely.

"Well, yes, I do," said Vin awkwardly. "But I've rather given it up. I mean, frankly, is this a time for frivolity?"

"Is this a time to lose one's sense of humor?" rejoined Carol.

Ten minutes later, the Minivers, glancing casually across the dance floor, were astonished to see their sociological son dancing, quite oblivious to everything, with Lady Beldon's granddaughter. When the couple parted, at the end of the evening and Carol explained that she had to leave on a visit to Scotland the next morning. Vin asked permission to write. He couldn't himself analyze his interest in this girl of aristocratic lineage, but he felt a sense of frustration at the news that she was going away.

The weeks sped by. The news from the Continent was distinctly disturbing, but most Kentish Englishmen of upper, lower and middle class alike regarded it not too pessimistically, as a storm signal that would in due season give way to clearing skies. Certainly there could not be another war so soon after 1918—not really another major conflict. And yet the element of doubt was constantly mounting. The crisis seemed close.

Sitting in the church pews next to his father and mother for morning services, Vin looked up in surprised elation as Carol came down the aisle with Lady Beldon, a trailing chauffeur carrying a hymn book, Bible and blanket.

"She wasn't to have returned for another week," whispered Vin.

"Well, people like to be home in times like these," returned his mother.

During the singing of the opening hymn, the vergers entered the chancel through a side door and came over to whisper to the vicar. The conversation continued after the last bar of music had sounded. Then the vicar rising solemnly said:

"Will everyone please be seated?" He looked about and after only a brief hesitation continued: "It has just been announced over the air by the Prime Minister that our country is at war."

"There was scarcely any audible reaction from the congregation. Clem put his hand on his wife's. Other couples engaged in similar gestures. Carol looked tenderly and meaningfully toward Vin.

"The circumstances," went on the vicar, "I do not think you will want me to proceed with the service, as you will probably have other duties to perform. I will say merely this, that the prayer for peace still lives in our hearts, coupled now with the prayer for our beloved country. We in this village have not failed in the past. Our forefathers for a thousands years fought for the freedom that we now enjoy, and that we must now defend again. With God's help and their example, we shall not fail."

For Toby and Judy the news was mysteriously exciting rather than malevolent. They had heard all kinds of rumors about what might happen if war broke out; as Clem came up the path from the church, Toby seized his arm and asked: "Are we going to be bombed, daddy?"

Others within earshot, who had mentally been voicing the same question, exchanged grave looks.

Poley, the affectionately gruff, rather grouse-colored individual, who had been hurriedly appointed Air Warden for the district, found himself sternly rebuffed in the first joust with Lady Beldon, who had little use for the maneuverings of Downing Street. With the Minivers the situation was different, for Clem had immediately volunteered for river patrol duty, and co-operation need not be sought out.

The first drill was scheduled for that evening. As the family had gathered in the cellar, after trying vainly to console Gladys for the call to duty of her fiancé, Horace, a stamping was heard above. Hurrying to the door, Clem found Poley there. He was rigged up with tin hat and canvas haversack, and he complained that the house was showing a light.

Rushing to the cellar like an alert bird dog, he pounced on a chair and put his flashlight on a grating just below the ceiling. Then he pulled over a wooden case to cover it.

"There!" he cried. "That fixes it. It's those tiny cracks that can do the damage! One man lights a cigarette in the room stands out like a beacon from five thousand feet up. One little crack to light might lead the 'ole German Air Force straight to this house!"

Vin hurried away from the scene of Mr. Poley's dress review, to see if he could offer any help at the Beldons home. He felt a closer bond with Carol, than ever before, although it had scarcely been delineated in actual words. When he had left her home, however, he had kissed her for the first time; and when he reached his own home he had arrived at a personal decision. His mother had expected it might come, but at least not so suddenly.

"Kay darling," said her husband, "I know it's hard, but you wouldn't care to have a son who didn't want to fight for his country?"

Mrs. Miniver seemed dry-eyed, but she was holding a handkerchief to her lips. "His country," she echoed. "What's Poland got to do with us?"

"You mean it doesn't matter how much other people suffer so long as you don't?" interjected Clem.

"I didn't say that," returned his wife. "I'm all mixed up—thinking of Vin. But we didn't want this, and perhaps they didn't want it either. There must be thousands of German mothers who feel as I do, with sons just like Vin."

"Mothers, perhaps, feel that way," answered Clem, "but not many sons. The system doesn't allow for that."

He took her arm. "Well, there's not much sense arguing about it. As far as Vin's concerned, he's settled the matter for himself."

Mrs. Miniver put away her handkerchief in the pocket from which it had been extracted, and looking up affectionately, gave her husband a little grateful kiss.

Are Not Taxed

War Savings Certificates Do Not Come Under Head Of Income

Holders of government bonds will receive their full coupon interest, or, if registered, their full interest cheque, without income tax deduction at the source. But this income will be taxable when the taxpayer is making his final settlement with the government. War Savings Certificates, on the other hand, accumulate interest over a period of seven and a half years so that at maturity a bond which cost $4 will bring $5, but this increase in value is non-taxable.—Toronto Star.

Small-Size Freighters Came To This Country From Other Side

It is now revealed, says the Brockville Recorder and Times that nearly 70 St. Lawrence canal-sized freighters have been turned over to the Admiralty for salt-water service. If it be doubted that they are capable of such duty, it need only be recalled that most of these vessels, small though they are, were built abroad and crossed the Atlantic to this continent under their own power. Many of them are, moreover, larger than the small-type tramp steamers which ply regularly in ocean service.

LUXURIOUS DRAPES TO MAKE YOURSELF

Swags, Cascades Easy To Sew

If you have yearned to treat your living room to really stunning draperies, this lovely triple-swag style is your chance.

For you can make it all yourself, inexpensively. The swags are easy, so are the cascades which smartly finish the corners.

You might make the main swag of luscious apricot saten, matching the side draperies, and the smaller swags of brown.

The main swag should be cut nearly twice as deep as it will be when folded and several inches wider than the window.

Cut the smaller one on the same plan, allowing of course for the smaller space to be covered. To make the lower edges as the diagram shows.

Brown fringe makes a smart trimming. Stitch it on, then fold and tack swags to valance board.

Now—the graceful cascades. For each, take a 22-by-14 inch piece of fabric, snip off corner and pleat. Simple—but lovely!

For details of making curtains, see our 32-page booklet. Giving diagrams, directions for swags, cascades, side draperies; for stunning styles in glass curtains, drapery-curtains and formal draperies, valances.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of "New Ideas in Making Curtains and Draperies" to Home Service Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermot Ave. E., Winnipeg, Man. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

SMILE AWHILE

"Last time I called on your husband was working for the Government. What's he doing now?"

"Nothin'—as still there."

"George, I mended that hole in your pocket."

"Thanks! How did you know it was there?"

"I hear," remarked Mrs. A., "that that nice young Mrs. B. got all her furniture on time payments."

"Yes," said Mrs. C., "she is feathering her nest with a little down."

Traveller: "What's the use of having a time-table if your trains don't run on it?"

Porter: "Now you're all excited. How could you tell they were running late if you didn't have a time-table?"

"John, do you remember—it was in a storm like this that you declared your love for me."

"Yes, it was a terrible night."

A depressed-looking fellow strolled into the restaurant. A waiter bustled up.

"What will you have, sir? Some cold shoulder?"

"No, thanks. I had that this morning."

"Well, then, tongue, sir?"

"No, thanks. I'll get that to-night."

"I say, old man, have you change for a pound note?"

"Yes, certainly."

"Well, just lend me ten shillings of it, will you?"

He was extremely conceited and boring.

"It's a fact," he boasted to a girl, "that people often take me for a member of the Guards."

"Really?" drawled the girl. "Fire—shin—railway—mud—or black?"

Wife—Have a look at that cake I've made for my birthday party. Do you think that my sense of design is good?

Hubby (counting candles):—Yes, but your arithmetic's terrible!

Landlady: "I won't charge you for breakfast, seeing that you didn't eat any."

Boarder: "That's good—I couldn't sleep either!"

Grocer—Do you want white or brown eggs, ma'am?

Bride—The kind I want are white with a yellow polka dots in the middle.

Neighbor: "Why on earth did you encourage your wife to quit playing the piano and start playing the clarinet?"

The Other: "Because she can't sing while she's playing the clarinet."

LADIES GROUP CONSERVE TEA AND COFFEE

Try Different Drink at Meeting

Neither coffee nor tea were served, as is the usual custom, at the quarterly meeting of the local Ladies Aid, but an excellent beverage was used, and the guests commented upon its delicious flavor. The president explained that the tea and coffee was in deference to the request of the Government. Expressing satisfaction at the success of the experiment, the chairman said: "Postum—the beverage used—had taken less sugar than would have been used for tea and coffee. It had cost less than either tea or coffee and so was a saving to the treasury, as well as a saving on tea, coffee, sugar."

Whether it's a meeting of a society or a meal in your own home, Postum provides the easy way to conserve tea and coffee. Grand, heartening flavor—economical—so easy to make.

SUBSIDY TO BE PAID ON MILK

Milk producers in Alberta districts, Calgary, Cadomin, Crow's Nest Pass, Edmonton, Jasper, Lethbridge, McLeod, Medicine Hat, Mountain Park and Nordegg, will benefit by the subsidy of 25 cents on 100 pounds of milk to be paid through order of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. The subsidy will be effective September 1. The Board has also fixed minimum producer prices in all markets where the subsidy is payable. These specific prices mean an average increase of about 10 cents per 100 pounds.

Combined measures now taken will pay an increase of about 35 cents a cwt. to producers of fluid milk.

The increase is designed to encourage milk production and assure an adequate supply. Less essential uses of milk will be restricted in areas of short supply if the Board measures are not successful, it is announced.

KEEP CHILDREN AWAY FROM ELEVATORS

It has been pointed out by managers of grain elevators that some children have the habit of playing around elevators and railway sidings. We are all familiar with the attraction to children of country elevators and freight cars. Country elevators are filled with dangerous machinery and many children have met with serious accidents in elevators at some points. Parents should warn their children to keep away from railway sidings and elevators on account of the danger involved. The busy season for grain elevators is here and freight cars are moving at all times. Heavy trucks loaded with grain will be rolling soon. It's a good time to stop, look, and listen.

Radio in wartime. There's a trio of words that's certain to get any radio man talking. And like as not he'll launch himself into a lengthy explanation of the hundreds of ways radio is being used to aid in the prosecution of the war. Radio is of valuable assistance to aircraft, ground troops and naval units. But one of the most important works of radio is being carried on every hour of the day, right here at home. Canadians are better informed today than they have ever been before, largely through radio newscasts and broadcast analyses of important trends in national and international affairs. After three years of war there is no panic or war hysteria in Canada, and morale is higher than at any time past. In this phase of wartime activity, every program has its part. Laughter and music are necessary in the life of any healthy nation. Remember that—and offer thanks for the tremendous variety of entertainment which is available to everyone through radio.

A restful half-hour of melody in three-quarter time is the theme each Friday evening at 7:00 when "Waltz Time" brings you the music of Abe Lyman's orchestra with songs by Frank Munn. Abe Lyman is famous for his arrangements of popular and old-favorite waltzes, and Frank Munn is known to thousands of radio fans as the "golden voice of radio."

World of Wheat

by H. G. L. Strange
Director of the Searle Grain Co.

Modern Pig Management

Recently I was able to visit a number of prairie farmers. I found that many wheat growers, at the earnest request of the government, have taken up pig production for the first time. Many different methods of pig management were to be seen, but some of it unquestionably was bad. On some farms pigs were born hairless, a good percentage of the litters had died and the remaining pigs were not doing well at all.

It is obvious that many wheat growers are not aware of the latest up-to-date labor-saving methods of pig feeding and management. Those who are handling pigs for the first time should, therefore, I suggest, make special efforts to find out from their nearest experimental farm or university or provincial department of agriculture, or from their district agricultural representative, the methods of feeding and management that would best suit the nature of their individual farms and the feed they actually have on hand.

I am sure that many young pigs now being lost can be saved, that the quantity of grain now fed can be cut down, and that much labor now expended in hauling food and water by hand can be avoided. Sows and litters require sunshine and exercise; growing pigs need sunshine and suitable feed, and above all lots of good clean water.

Fibers are broken in the backs of rugs and carpet when they are beaten. It is better to use a vacuum cleaner on rugs for short periods twice a week than for a longer period once a week.

Seven Million For What?

During 1941 owners of motor vehicles in Alberta contributed $7,119,956 in the form of licenses and taxes to the Provincial Government.

These taxes were originally applied to obtain money for good roads, but a large percentage of same is being diverted to other purposes.

The Alberta Motor Association advocates that surplus revenue collected from motorists during the war should be placed in a trust fund (War Loan Bonds) to be used for road building and maintenance when peace comes.

Every owner of a motor vehicle should support this policy.
